Pathways

To Community Living

What Is It?

Our goal is to help interested people living in a long-term care facility move to an apartment or house in the community, and to make sure they receive quality care after they move.

Illinois' Pathways to Community Living is part of a national project, called Money Follows the Person, and is administered by the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services.

How Does It Work?

We have trained individuals, called Transition Coordinators, to help you. They will meet with you one on one. They will help decide if you are eligible for this program. They will help you before, during, and after you move.

Success Stories

Since 2008, Pathways to Community Living has helped hundreds of people move from nursing homes back to the community.

We want to share some of their success stories with you!

Success in the Community

The Pathways program and the Shawnee Alliance for Seniors helped one couple move back to their own home. He has dementia, she is blind, and they spent a lot of time in nursing homes. Pathways provided financial help to make home improvements and accessibility updates they needed to live at home. This couple has done very well. They feel a great deal of comfort living back in their own home.

Scott Chose Community Living

Scott was 40 years old and he lived in a nursing home. That changed one year ago. Illinois' Pathways to Community Living program and the Chicago-area Heartland Alliance helped Scott move into his own apartment in Rogers Park.

"Now I am doing very well. I try not to take anything for granted," Scott says. "I don't look at it as a place I have arrived at. I see it as a starting point. I feel like I have found a sanctuary where I can really think about what I want to do."

Mary & Brian's Success Story

"Mary and I were the life of the facility," Brian says. Mary has a brain injury and Brian was in an accident that left him paralyzed. They were living in a nursing home where they met and fell in love. Soon after their engagement, a Pathways transition coordinator from the FITE Center for Independent Living in Elgin helped them move into their own apartment.

"It works out nice," Mary says. "I am his legs; he is my memory."
